I just want to say that whoever said crypto has no legitimate use cases, you can tell them that funding for rare disease research is a pretty legitimate use case

(again, ALL proceeds from this will go directly to rare disease research at hankinson lab, my family and i will keep $0 from any of this)

I know this is a memecoin. I know this is pump.

but tbh this has exceeded all my expectations already. (once again $0 of this has or will ever go to me directly - every penny will go to rare disease research)

I'm interested in how to make this sustainable and great for SOL okay i literally have no idea what i'm doing but they told me to keep adding (one sided) liquidity to meteora so i'm doing that.

i may commit to selling like 1% daily and i still won't be moving anything until tomorrow.

and also how the hell did they find out the name of my dog??

Hi @blader,

I'm the person who sent you 50% of $MIRA earlier today.

When I saw the story about Mira and her illness, I thought it would be good to buy and send supply to you with the hopes of getting the SOL community behind a good cause on Christmas. I'm really glad that it worked out the way that it has and I hope that the money helps to find a cure both for Mira and anyone else with her condition.

Wishing you and your family a wonderful Christmas.

God Bless,
Waddles
